Facebook

bestows its coy splendor on the stock exchange midst ballyhoos suitable for a royal train with spangled elephants.

There ought to be a monument to the man who invented neon lights. . . .

There's a boy who really made something out of nothing. *

*Raymond Chandler